You can use gestures too to help your colleagues remember the words written in orange.

Once upon a time in the year ten thirty five, there was a 12 year-old little girl called Goldilocks. She went for a walk in the forest on a very cold day. The locals called the forest "The Bear Bush". There she came upon a house. "Bear Cottage. Number 5", it said on the door sign. She knocked and, when no one answered, she walked right in. But first she took her dirty Uncle Martin boots off in the entrance hall, and put them on the fourth shelf of the shoe stand in the hallway.

At the table in the kitchen, there were three bowls of porridge ("Super-biological Oatmeal" it said on the label). Goldilocks was hungry. She tasted the porridge from the first bowl. "This tastes of chocolate! I hate chocolate!" she exclaimed. She tasted the porridge from the second bowl. "This porridge tastes of strawberries. I don't like strawberries either!" she said. And added: "And it is too salty as well", making a face of disgust. So she tasted the last bowl of porridge. "Ahhh, this porridge is perfect!" she said happily and she ate more than two-thirds of it. She really loved the taste of cinnamon, nutmeg, clove and butter.

After she'd had approximately 350 grams of porridge for breakfast, she decided she was feeling a little tired, since she hadn't slept for the last 17 hours, since she finished watching the last episode of the Broken Crown on Movieflix. So, she walked into the living room where she saw three fancy design chairs. Oh, these must be Alvar Aalto! Goldilocks sat in the first chair to rest. "This chair is too big!" she exclaimed. Of course, because she was a small girl – size 32 or so.... So she sat in the second chair full of pillows decorated with prints of sunflowers painted by Van Gogh. "This chair is too big, too!" she whined. So she tried the third chair. But just as she settled down into the chair to rest, it broke into 58 pieces! Goldilocks she was very tired by this time. It was 22.45 at night.

She went upstairs to the bedroom. She lay down in the first bed, but that was too big, 3 meters long. Then she lay in the second bed, but that was only 20 cm shorter than the first one. Then she lay down in the third bed that was 1.4 meters, exactly her size! Goldilocks fell asleep.

She was sleeping when the owners of Bear Cottage, the three bears, Baby Benny Bear, Mama Mamita Bear and Papa Patrick bear came home, each of them carrying two big bags. They had been shopping at the Bear Bush Mall and have been to McDonald's to celebrate Baby Benny Bear's birthday. "Someone's been eating from my nice coffee-chocolate-tobacco porridge," growled the Papa bear who was 46 years old that day. "Someone's been eating from my raspberry-bilberry porridge," said Mamita, the Mama bear. "Someone's been eating my vanilla porridge and they ate it all up!" cried the Baby bear. "Someone's been sitting in my Noguchi chair!" growled Papa bear and checked if all four legs of the chair were fine... "Someone's been sitting on my Cezanne pillows!," said Mama bear. "Someone's been sitting in my chair and they've broken it into 56 pieces" cried the Baby bear.

They decided to look around the house and after ½ an hour they went upstairs to the bedroom. Papa bear growled, "Someone's been sleeping in my bed." "Someone's been sleeping in my bed, too" said the Mama bear. "Someone's been sleeping in my bed and she's still there!" exclaimed the Baby Benny Bear. Just then, Goldilocks woke up. She saw the bears. She screamed four times "Help! Help!" And she jumped up and ran out of the room. She jumped down all the 80 stairs, opened the door, and ran away into the forest. She never returned to the forest again. and she lived the rest of her life very happily, and died at the age of 93.

LISTENING SKILLS: 2.5. The Impossible Story - An alternative story to work with

Read out the story to your class. Use your voice tone, pace, rhythm and volume to help your classmates remember all numbers (ordinals, cardinals and fractions), names (of people, months, etc.). You can use gestures too to help your colleagues remember the words written in orange.

It was in the beginning of November. Carl went to "Happy Counters", the grocery store just around the corner to buy 3 litres of milk. After buying the milk he was going to visit his grandfather Papa Gilbert and give him two of the litres of milk. Since his grandmother Maria Theresa died 9 months ago, Carl was looking after his grandfather, who was 89 years old and living now by himself in a small apartment 10 minutes away from Carl and his family in Reconciliation Street.

It was a cold and rainy day, and he was freezing, even though he was wearing two layers of woollen clothes underneath the warm Kawasaki jacket, which he got for Christmas from Uncle Thierry. On his way to the store he ran into Lennard, his old class mate from 4th grade. Lennard, who was quite a short young man, not more than 1,6 meters with extraordinarily big feet, size 42 I guess, told him about a new game, that he was playing at home with his younger cousin Jasmin and his girlfriend Susanne. The game was called Cyberpunk 2077. It hadn't had the best reviews but its rating was quite high, 4.8 points. For almost 2 days and nights Lennard had been playing it non stop.

While talking with Carl outside the store Lennard yawned 4 times. When Lennard opened up his mouth to yawn, Carl discovered that 3 of his teeth were missing.... How strange! What had happened? As far as Carl remembered, Lennard's mother was working as a dentist, and she even had her own Clinic, the Diamond Teeth Clinic in the centre of Copenhagen. Lennard had always been talking about becoming a dentist one day. And Carl thought to himself: "How strange". He really wanted to ask Lennard about his missing teeth. But he didn't dare ask. What if he would be embarrassed? Or angry? Carl remembered once back in their school days - they both went to the Cottonwood Alley School when they were 10 years old - when Lennard almost lost his temper and got really upset because someone asked him about his new David Bowie-style hair cut.

So instead of asking about the teeth, Carl just asked Lennard if he would like to play Cyberpunk 2077 on Thursday at 9 o'clock. Lennard laughed and slapped Carl in a friendly way on his left shoulder: "That would be great! But I am busy on Thursday. I'll be at the Cold Blood Club on Thursday night!" Lennard left and didn't look back. All of a sudden Carl remembered which gamer name Lennard had back in 4th grade: "DraculaDK".
